

WHOOZ Park

The island of Manhattan has been declared a National Wildlife Habitat (Decentral Park), and its flora and fauna are now being studied by citizen park rangers, including you.

All citizens are empowered with the rights and responsibilities of official Deputy Park Rangers, and are invited to participate in gathering information about the ecosystems which make up this beautiful park.

As you conduct your investigations, use the badge and ID card below to identify yourself as a Park Ranger to others. Feel free to deputize anyone you meet.

Wildlife Mapping

WHOOZ is actively engaged in mapping animal populations in Manhattan, and anyone with a cellphone can participate in mapping. WHOOZ is particularly interested in BATS, INSECTS, and PIGEONS. Use these four keywords to submit sightings to WHOOZ. Learn more at WHOOZ.ORG
